

Blackball 2008 – a commemoration of the 1908 miners' strike

23min DVD For sale $15

Everyone who attended the Easter celebrations at Blackball came away inspired. It is not often that a political event is so massively supported and so diversely represented by a local community. Blackball is still a very special place. It continues to be an icon for working-class history, mythology and ongoing organising in this country. By recording the weekend's activities I hope to contribute to the amazing effort by the Blackball '08 Commemoration Committee to keep a very important fragment of our past alive.

Attached is a review by Dean Parker and a picture of the DVD cover, which will give you a better idea of what it's all about.
